

Puss-in-Boots

Once upon a time, there was a poor farmer who had a very clever cat.

“My name’s Puss-in-Boots!” the cat said.

“Master, I can talk, I’d like to help you.”

Then Puss-in-Boots went into the forest.

He caught a big fat rabbit in his bag.

He took the rabbit to the king.

“This present is from my master,” he said.

Later, Puss said to his master, “take off your clothes and jump in the river!”

“Quick!” Puss said to the king and his daughter.

“My master is in the water!”

The king gave the farmer dry clothes.

They were beautiful.

The farmer looked very handsome.

Puss-in-Boots saw a big castle.

“A monster lives here,” Puss said, “but I’m not scared!”

“Show me some magic!”

Puss said to the monster.

“Can you change into a mouse?”

“Yes” the monster said – he was very silly!

He changed into a mouse.

Puss jumped!

Puss showed the castle to the king and princess.

Puss and his master lived there.

His master was now very rich.

He married the princess.

“Now everyone is happy,” Puss said.

“What a very clever cat I am!”
